SAN MIGUEL DE ALLENDE

Founded in the 16th century, San Miguel de Allende is known for old world charm and first world amenities. A lively nightlife and abundance of fine restaurants give the mid-sized town a cosmopolitan vibrancy. The center of town is a time capsule of cobblestone streets lined with jewel tone colonial facades and stone colonnades, and overshadowed by La Parroquia, an immense neo-gothic church of pink stone. Nearby day trips include hot springs, high desert hikes, and the Jesuit Sanctuary of Atotonilco, famous for its murals of angels and demons and over-the-top Mexican Baroque interior.

—Felisa Rogers, National Geographic San Miguel De Allende Travel Guide

WALKING TOUR WITH GUIDE OF EL CHARCO DEL INGENIO

El Charco is a botanical garden that specializes in the central Mexican plateau region. Rare species of maguey, succulents, and cacti are on display. There is also an extensive network of interpretive trails that attracts bird watchers and nature enthusiasts, and a labyrinth of ceramic artifacts from the pre-Hispanic era.

ARTS & CULTURE

Immerse yourself in San Miguel de Allende's rich culture and history by exploring the vibrant Mercado de Artesanías, discovering Fabrica de Aurora's fascinating art galleries, and learning about Instituto Allende's history through Diego Rivera's famous murals. Additionally, enjoy a guided tour of El Charco's unique cactus gardens and experience the mesmerizing mosaic art at the Chapel of Jimmy Ray to truly appreciate the region's artistic heritage and natural beauty. You will also have an opportunity to pick an optional event to possibly enjoy salsa dancing, take an art class or meet the Mexican Hat atelier, La Suki Armendariz.

TRIP LEADERS

"Having been a frequent visitor to San Miguel for the last 20 years, I'm so delighted to be able to help plan and lead this retreat to share some of my favorite experiences in this amazing, magical city. Every time I bring friends here, they are hooked on the magic, creativity and beauty of the location and the people. Combine the magic of San Miguel with a group of awesome women and it is sure to be a fabulous retreat."
